AND TAKE FOURTH PLACE. New Yorks Win Handily From the Cincinnatis Tail-End Honors - Pittsburg Beats Philadelphia in the Tenth Inning - St. Louis Outplayed by the Bostons-Notes.

Unless the Brooklyns take an immediate brace they are liable to lose second place. They were defeated by the Chicagos yesterday and incidentally lost an excellent chance to cut down the lead of the Philadelphias, who were onquered in the tenth inning by the Pittsburgs. The latter team is now in third place, close upon the heels of Hanlon's men while the Chicagos, by virtue of their victory, have moved into fourth place. Boston won handily from St. Louis and further showed that the Hub players will soon be in the hunt. The New Yorks defeated the Cincinnatis in handy fashion and Brush's men further sank into the tail-end mire. The results:

Chicago, 6; Brooklyn, 4.

New York, 7; Cincinnati, 4. Pittsburg, 5; Philadelphia, 4. Boston, 6; St. Louis, 3 THE RECORD.

CHICAGO, 6: BROOKLYN, 4. If Manager Hanlon had taken Pitcher Kitcon out of the box at the end of the third inning yesterday, the Brooklyns may have had an even chance to defeat the Chicagos. In that time the visitors found Kitson for two singles, two doubles and a three-bagger, to say nothing of several terrific drives than were cleanly fielded. Kitson, it is said, asked to be relieved after the first inning, saying that he was not at his best. In the fourth inning his curves were hammered for another single and two more doubles, but Hanlon still kept him at work. In the fifth inning two more singles, a two-bagger and a three-bagger proved to be too much and the Champions manager then substituted "Roaring Bill" Kennedy, who was a stumbling block, after it was too late. But even in the lace of this error of judgment the Brooklyns might have won had they shown any ability to hit the ball consecutively. There is and has been something the matter with the batting of the Champions ever since the season opened, which has been a source of comment on all sides. It is generally believed by baseball men that there is too much science with the stick, that opposing pitchers are looking out with unusual sharpness for the "hit and run" system and that there must be a shift in methods pretty soon if the team is to hit into double figures and when such men as keeler, den at his best. In the fourth inning his curves sharpness for the "hit and run" system and that there must be a shift in methods pretty soon if the team is to hit into double figures each game. When such men as keeler, Jennings and Dahlen cannot hit in the 300 class there must be something radically wrong.

The fielding of the Chicagos behind the cool headed, evenly balanced pitching of Griffith was superb. It was in marked contrast to that of the Brooklyns, though Jennings saved many errors by his pick-ups of wild throws. Childs played second base in old-time form, his great catch of Cross liner in the eighth, which was the beginning of a double play, with the bases filled, doing much to shut the Brooklyns out of a chance to pull up. Ryan made a one-hand catch and McCormick covered short field in splendid style. Jones made some good catches and Keeler pulled in a drive fromMertes with his back against the rightfield fence. Jennings made another fine backing up play. As Donahue's single was overrun by Keeler in the second inning, Jennings picked the ball up and shut Sir Timothy off at second base with a fine throw to Dahlen. Farrell's throwing to bases was labored. He missed three of the four men who made dashes for second base. Griffith, in addition to pitching clever ball, hit hard. So did Green and Bradley for the visitors, while Jones and Kelley did the bulk of the batting for the Brooklyns.

NEW YORK, 7; CINCINNATI, 4. NEW YORK, 7; CINCINNATI, 4.

There was a great battle of the tail-enders at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon in which the New Yorks came out ahead. They nearly had heart disease, though, during the close of the game when in the eighth inning successive errors by Doyle, Hickman, Gleason and Bowerman, added to hits by Breitenstein and Corooran scored four runs for the Reds. Beckley's fly to left, which Selbach gathered in after a hard run, put an end to the agony, however. In the last linning the Cincinnatis got men on first and second with one out, but a double play, the fifth of the game, and a strike out settled all chances of the visitors getting out of last place.

all chances of the visitors getting out of last place.

Hawley pitched a great game against his old comrades. He only allowed them six hits and did not give a single free pass. Ten of them went out on easy fly balls and they would probably have been blanked had not the New Yorks' infield gone up in the air in the eighth inning. Hahn, on the other hand, was hit freely when hits were needed. A fusillade of four safe hits including three-bargers by Hickman and Selbach in the seventh inning was good for three runs and then he was retired to the bench, Scott going into the box to finish the game.

Both teams tried to play "inside" baseball and the effect, at times was ludicrous. The new uniforms of the Cincinnatis, to replace those destroyed by fire recently arrived yesterday and they were used. They gave the visitors a business-like appearance, but the men in them could not seem to play ball and this morning they are still in last place. Davis, of the New Yorks, is laid up with a strained leg and may be out the game for four or five days. Bowerman took his place yesterday and in spite of his two errors played a good game at short. The appearance of Umpire Emsile was hailed with pleasure by the crowd. He did not allow any back talk from the players and the result was the quickest game of the year on the Polo Grounds. PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Dick Cooley had his revenge to-day. In the tenth inning, with the score a tie, two men out and Wagner on first, the latter started for second. Cooley deliberately blocked McFarland's throw, which enabled Wagner to reach second safely. Then Cooley hit to right for two bases, and the game was won. Batteries-Sanders, Lyon and Green; Rogers, Smith and Harper Why Not Let "Broadway" Smith Catch? Not satisfied with "farming" Jimmy Casey to the Detroit club, the officials of the Brooklyn club are still anxious to reduce the number of players on the payroll. The latest plan is to players on the payroll. The latest plan is to "farm" Catcher Alec Smith to the Hartford club of the Eastern League, but, it is undergood. Smith has positively refused to be a paig to such a deal and has also asked in vain for his release, so that he may negotiate with other League clubs in his own behalf.

There has been a certain amount of feeling on the part of the Brooklyn officials against Smith since he was instrumental in losing a game to the New Yorks, and the player since that time has not received what might be termed a "square deal." He played third base on the occasion in question, though it was not his regular position, and was the only player on the team willing to tackle the job when the place was vacant. His shortcomings, therefore, could not be considered censurable. Smith is a catcher and a good one when receiving plenty of regular work. Hanlon released him last summer, but when Smith signed with McGraw's Baltimores he did such good work that Hanlon took him back. At the present time McGuire has a lame ankle and cannot take part in the games. Farrell's throwing arm is off and will not come around until hot weather sets in, but Smith, in condition and anxious to go behind the bat, is kept on the bench. The ball cranks of Brooklyn would like to see Smith have a chance to show his true worth as a cajcher, and if he is found wanting then it will be time to talk of "farming" or releasing him. McGraw said the other day that he could not understand why Smith was on the bench. Ball players in the League who adopt the tactics of thugs receive better treatment from the magnates than those who try to follow the rules of sportsmanship. farm" Catcher Alec Smith to the Hartford club better treatment from the magnates than the who try to follow the rules of sportsmanshi for His New Owner-Spencer Scores Twice, Visitors to the Gravesend track yesterday found a programme well worth patronizing and plenty of elbow room in which to enjoy it. The turnstiles naturally showed a reaction after the half-holiday crush of last Saturday but the regulars were on hand as promptly as usual. The outing gradually developed into a benefit for the bookmakers as favorites were bowled over from start to finish while only two succeeded in capturing the short end of the money. Spencer carried off the riding honors with two firsts and a second and Turner came next with one win and two places. The sport began in spectacular fashion with a hurdle handicap for which six timbertoppers accepted. Dr. Eichberg was the general selection and so much money went in on him that 13 to 5 could be had against Gov. Griggs. Lackland, with Finnigan up, looked to be a good investment at 7 to 2, and he flattered his followers for most of the route. Donohue nursed Gov. Griggs along in a good position until well around the last circuit when he raced through in determined style and won easily by a length and a half from Lackland who beat Mazo ten lengths. The latter finished a head in front of Athamas after a long drive. Gov. Grigg's time wiped out the track record of 3:16% made by J. E. McDonald's four-year-old, Midgley, with 142 pounds in selling race, second on the card, found backing and there was practically no favorite when the plungers got through. Bob Baker and Bowen closed at 9 to 2, Quiz II. at 5 to 1, The Golden Prince and Educator at 6 to 1, Moor at 7 to 1 and Glennellie and Beau Gallant at 8 to 1. Glennellie made most of the running, chased along by Educate. Quiz III. kept within hail to the last furlong pole where he challenged the leaders and won out by a head. Beau Gallant was pinned in the rear of the bunch for half a mile but Turner jammed him through in the stretch and landed him in the place a head in front of Glennellie. Then came an equally puzzling race for maiden three-year-olds at one mile and 70 yards. On the strength of his two-year-old record, Red Path, the promising son of Rayon d'Or-Red Girl, ruled favorite with Orontas and Scales next in demand. Red Path Ilved up to his reputation for seven furlongs and set a cracking pace with Okettee another son of Rayon d'Or, chasing him closely. Both were done to a turn when the others joined issue in the stretch and the honors fell to Orontas, who beat Scales a head. Long isle dropped from the clouds into third position.

The red-letter event scheduled was the Criterion Stakes of $3.500 for two-year-old fillies at four and a half furlongs. Most of the nine racy-looking youngsters engaged had already proven their quality and seemed so well matched that the betting was decidedly open. Weight of money finally made Ashes a slight favorite, over Lucrana, with Add and Anecdote next in demand. At the last moment a whisper crept from paddock to betting ring that the Keenes had a maiden filly by Domino-Benmy-Chree almost at fast as her noted sire. Cap and Bells was accordingly played from 8 to 1 to 7 to 1, and she turned the trick without an effort. Getting off seventh. She ran around her field with an extraordinary burst of speed and turned for home six lengths in the lead. Then spencer took in a couple of wraps and let her gallop past the judges two lengths of one stretch in close orde selling race, second on the card, found backing and there was practically no favorite when the

BROTHER TO TWO DERBY WINNERS. Sandringham Purchased From the Prince of Wales by John E. Madden. John E. Madden, the noted Kentucky horseman, yesterday completed negotiations by cable for the purchase of one of the greatest thoroughbreds owned by the Prince of Wales. The horse is Sandringham, so named as a special compliment to the prowess he showed in private trials as a two-year-old. He hit himself and went amiss so badly that Trainer Marsh never succeeded in getting Trainer Marsh never succeeded in getting him to the post. He is now a four-year-old and a typical representative of the most successful breeding lines in England. Sandringham is a full brother to Persimmon and Diamond Jubilee, the two noted Derby winners, all three being by St. Simon-Perdita II. Mr. Madden will place his latest acquisition at the head of his Hamburg Place nursery, and if blood counts for anything the investment should rank among the best of the many deals in choice horseflesh which have made the name of Madden famous. The price at which Sandringham changes hands remains a secret, but horsemen who heard of the matter at Graves-end yesterday think he would be a bargain at $50,000.

RESULTS ON OTHER TRACKS,

At Hawthorne. At Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, June 4.—There was a mock raid at Hawthorne, at 1 o'clock this afternoon, half an hour before there were any bookmakers on the ground. There were six 'dummies' in one of the boxes who were arrested, taken before a nearby Justice and released on bonds. The raid was instigated by John Jones, President of the Town Board of Cicero, and is in no sense a serious affair. The result of the Juvenile Stakes for two-year-olds leaves no doubt as to the superiority of Garry Herrmann. This good coil just galloped the distance in 1:0215 over a slow track (Charles Head Smith, who recently purchased the coit, will not send him East for the Great Trial Stakes. At Newport.

CINCINNATI, June 4.—The races were on at Newport track again to-day and the track was well worked and in good shape. The surprise of the aftermoon was in the fourth race, a mile affair, and Floriar was easily the favorite at 11 to 5. Unsightly was the second choice at 2½ to 1, but the players seemed to know something about Philippine which opened at 10 to 1, but was backed down to 4½ to 1. Their confidence in the son of Sir Dixon was not misplaced for Philippine won a great race, beating Unsightly and Plorizar that were respectively second and third in an easy manner. Summary: Piorisar that were respectively second and third in an easy manner. Summary:

At St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 4.—A fast track, good attendance, delightful weather and brisk speculation, coupled with a fine card, were the features of to-day's races. The princely Algol's racing days are probably over. He was cut down in the second event by Hi Knocker, in his off hind leg. The back tendon was cut through, permitting Tulia Fonso to win the race. Summaries:

An English Critic Comments on the Cutter

The cutter Hester, recently purchased by Rear Commodore Robinson of the New York Yacht Club, is being fitted out for the trip across the ocean. The Yachting World says: "Hester has had rather hard luck in her short racing career on this side. She was built and sailed her first races before the rating rule was altered to give yachts of her size a better altered to give yachts of her size a better chance of success against the bigger boats. Under these conditions she was not quite good enough for the magnificent class of bigger boats in which she sailed, and the record of her successes was but short. Mr. John Nairn purchased her with the idea of racing her in the handicap class, but was practically shut out for one season because he raced her once against one of the class boats for the simple purpose of making a contest. She was afterward brought to the Clyde, but there was little sport here for her, because it happened that our big cruising class was that year in a state of collapse. Last year she was laid up right through the season at Port Glassow, and her American owner, therefore, gets a boat which has been but little tried.

Yachting Notes.

The Isolde, F. M. Hoyt's cutter, sailed again for this country on May 17.

The Yachting World says: "Owing to the ill-health of Mr. Rutherford Stuyvesant, the Arcturus, which returned to Southampton from a cruise a week or two ago, will not fit out again this season."

The annual regatta of the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club will be sailed next Saturday. The start will be made at noon from a line off the clubhouse. The 43, 36, 30 and special 30-foot classes will race twenty-one miles, going to the Gangway Buoy, then to Madinleock Point Buoy and back over the same course. The 25-foot class raceabouts, knockabouts and cabin catboats will sail twelve miles, going to the Gangway Buoy, then to Old Hen Buoy, then to the Middle Ground Buoy, pass to the north of Execution Light, then to the Gangway Buoy and to the finish line. Sloops of the 21 and 18-foot class and open catboats will race seven miles, going to the Gangway Buoy and back. The dories will race over a triangular course, three miles and an eighiblong, laid off the clubhouse. The rules of the Yacht Racing Association will govern. The Regatts Committee is E. M. MacLellan, chairman; Robert Jacob and Charles D. Mower.

GOLF CHAMPIONS TO MEET.

THE GREAT ANNUAL COMPETITION

AGAIN SLATED FOR ST. ANDREWS. Harry Vardon to Be Paired With Harold H. Hilton-Eighty-four Entries for the Event -Scotland Hopeful of at Last Regaining Title From the English Players

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 4.-Eighty-four competitors have entered for the open golf championship at St. Andrews. Harry Vardon, the professional, and Harold Hilton, who recently won the amateur championship at Sandwich, have drawn to play together. The open championship of the world, which begins to-morrow at St. Andrews, Scotland, has been played since 1872, when it was instituted to take the place of the competition for the championship belt, first played for in 1860, which was won out by three successive wins in 1870 by Tom Morris, Jr. The open championship is at seventy-two holes, medal play, and it is played in turn at St. Andrews, Sandwich, Prestwick, Muirfield and Holyoke, the five 'classic" links. It was won for the first time by an English player in 1890, when John Ball, Jr., also the first amateur to win, carried off the first honors at Prestwick. In 1892 and 1897 another amateur, H. H. Hilton, was the winner. Hugh Kirkcaldy of St. Andrews won in 1891 at St. Andrews, and Willie Auchterlonie, also of St. Andrews, won at Prestwick in 1893. Since then a Scotch player has not won. J. H. Taylor won in 1894 and 1895, on the last occasion at St. Andrews, and Harry Vardon, the present holder of the title, won in 1896, 1898 and last year. In some quarters the opinion is held that Vardon's American trip will have put him off his game, but he has been lucky to draw the amateur champion as his partner. Vardon said when here that if he did not win he thought some outsider would do so, but in Scotland Andrew Kirkcaldy, Sandy Herd and W. Park, Jr., ara regarded as possible winners.

Prospects of the British Golf Championship.

From the Glasgow Evening News. The classic course of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews is this year honored with the competition which is to decide the "blue ribbon" of golf-a distinction it has not held since 1895. The winner is decided by the lowest aggregate score of four rounds over the course. At the end of the first day, competitors with scores exceeding the lowest by twenty strokes are obliged to retire; but power is reserved to augment the number of professionals to thirty-two. The prizes are of £50, £25, £15, £10, and two of £7 10s,-amateurs having choice of plate.

The present holder is Harry Vardon. Since Auchterionie's victory at Prestwick in 1893 the championship has not been held by a Scotsman. But last year no fewer than six Scotsmen followed Vardon in immediate succession on the prize list. Vardon undoubtedly occupies the most avored position. It is somewhat difficult to assign the cause of his wonderful success. With he exception of long shots through the green, t cannot be said he holds unquestioned upremacy in any department of the game. It is rather to the possession of the qualities of steadiness, accuracy, power and resource, in unrivalled combination, that his success is to be unrivalled combination, that his success is to be attributed. Braid easily out drives him. Taylor excels at approaching, and Park is his master on the putting green, but Vardon is without the defects which characterize these players. It would be still harder to discover wherein he excels Herd, except to say that he is steadier. All things considered, however, the chances appear in favor of his repeating previous performances by arain annexing the championship.

Willie Park, at Prestwick two years ago, gave an astonishing display, leading the field for three rounds, when his proclivity to occasional weakness asserted itself and cost him the championship by a single stroke. Al'hough he recorded eight more strokes than Vardon at the first and third holes of the two last rounds, he finished with a total of 308—a splendid average of 77.

the chambiouship by a single-stroke. Although the recorded eight more strokes than Vardon at the first and third holes of the two last rounds, he finished with a total of 308—a splendid average of 77.

By his splendid achievement in winning the amateur championship, Mr Hilton's prospects are becoming greatly enhanced.

J. H. Taylor is a player with chances to be seriously reckoned. The Englishman's game lacks the vigor and brilliance of the Scotch school, but it is wonderfully accurate.

Among those who have not won the event, yet who are thoroughly deserving such an honor, none stands so consoleuous as Sendy Herd. Winner of many matches and tournaments, often victor of Vardon, he has somehow always falled at the championship. Hilton has justly said of him, it were an error to suppose there was a better golfer. His most successful season was 1898, when he carried all before him and led for three rounds in the championship, his ultimate defeat being attributed to a fall of rain ursetting his calculations on the greens. Than Herd there is no player better entitled to be called champion, and no competitor would grudge him victory this year.

In James Braid, Romford, Scotland possesses another representative fit to earn the honor. It will be quite safe to account Braid the most dashing player of his time. His style is pre-eminently tour-de-force; his drives and cleek shots tremendous. He is utterly fearless, and when it is a case of dernier resort there is nothing he does not risk. The extreme brilliance of his game may be inferred from one of his displays against Vardon last year, when turning with three holes to the bad, he wiped off the deficit and actually won by 2 up and 1 to play, capturing five holes out of eight. With the exception of 1887, when he stoodsecond, he has never appeared at his best in the championship.

In the much-lamented loss of their favorite, the late Lieut Tait, St. Andrews folk, who are all golfers, will turn their hopes to Andrew Kirk-caldy. Critics are grown tired discussing the causes

That proportion of golfers who use the public links at Sunset Park. Brooklyn, who belong to the Sunset Park Golf Club held their annual meeting on Sunday. The result of the election of officers for the year was the selection of Frank J. Mahon as President, Charles J. J. Baasel as Vice-President, William Duncan, Jr. as Secretary-Treasurer, and Robert Balmain as chairman of the Handicapping Committee. Mr. Balmain is an old-time Edinburgh goifer. As the club has rented a headquarters on the Seventh avenue side of Sunset Park, it was decided, in order to defray the additional expense, to establish an entrance fee of $2. The annual dues will stand at $2. It was decided to make a change in the system of weekly competitions so as to make them less cumbersome and to promote a greater accuracy in the recording of the scores.

A regular membership of 392, with eight non-resident and three honorary members, forms the roster in the new year book of the Hart-ford Golf Club. The links is an eighteen-hole one, with a playing length of 5,359 yards, and the club has also a finely equipped house and accommodations for tennis and other sports. The golf schedule comprises weekly handi-caps and other competitions extending to Dec. 1.

Newburgh. June 4.—On Saturday, on the links of the Powelton Club, James S. Taylor, winner of the final round in the trial championship, met the holder of the cup. Gilman P. Tiffany, in a thirty-six-hole match. After breaking even in the moroling. Tiffany won the match by 4 up and 3 to play.

Walter J. Travis has an interesting article "Practical Golf" in the current number Golf. Regarding the stance he says: i favor driving off the left leg, as it appears easier to get the arms and body around in the upward swing without the hitch which one seems to encounter about spree-quarters of the way up when the right foot is its front. Apars from this, however, there is very little difference in actual results of length of drive. The ease and rapidity with which the weight of the body and arms is transferred from the left leg to the right and back again, joined to wrist action—concerning which reference will later be made—are largely, if not wholly, responsible for long driving. If one man can accomplish this more easily and naturally by a certain stance, then, by all means, stick to it. It matters little whether he now and then slices or pulls with more or less frequency; these faults are not the outgrowth of any of the styles referred to, but proceed from other causes which will be dealt with in due course.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. The L. A. W. and Suffolk County Sidepath

The following letter is from a member of the L. A. W.: TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN-Sir: I have read n the "News of the Wheelmen" column of THE SUN that bleycle riders wishing to make trips on Long Island and to procure in advance Suffolk county sidepath tags, could do so by applying at the office of the A. W. at 132 Nassau street. I have just learned that fthis is not so, and that the L. A. W. keep them only for the use of their own members. As it is inconvenient and annoying for a person who is not a member to go to 132 Nassau street on a fool's errand, rould ask you to publish this statement in your columnthat your readers may be correctly informed. Also please state if there is any place in New York city where Suffolk county tags or the tags of any other county can be procured. Chief Consul Belding of the L. A. W. vesterday mailed a letter to the writer of the above letter, stating that the tags had been sold to every one until recently. He changed his mind in this matter and determined to confine the in this matter and determined to confine the League benefits more exclusively to its members. The Chief Consul, when interviewed by a reporter of The Sun, said that The Sun had not only been correct, but had been of great aid to the League. The rule to sell only to members is a new one, but justified by the fact that many thousands of wheelmen have received benefits from the work and money that a few other thousand in the L. A. W. expended. He further said that only members would hereafter be supplied. There are probably several cycle stores in New York that sell Suffolk County tags but they have not notified The Sun of the fact. In Brocklyn the sidepath tags can be purchased at 471 Flatbush avenue.

In relation to the first long run of the Automobile Club to Philadelphia it is interesting to note that George Isham Scott, chairman of the Committee on Runs and Tours, set an example to his fellow finishers at Philadelphia and got away from that city early and was the first to finish here on Sunday night. The heaviest laden vehicle in the run, the London bus in charge of E. E. Schwartzkopf, was one of the late finishers that was not mentioned in previous reports. It carried six persons, although of only a six horse power gasoline motor. Most of the members were surprised to see it arrive, but it was a good thing that it did because the evening suits for the dinner and the pajamas of half a dozen of the "autofans" were in dress suit cases on the top of the 'bus. Yesterday, after it was all over and the experiences had been exchanged, the members of the club agreed that it was the "biggest affair yet" and the most successful.

Another Change in Harvard's 'Varsity Crew. CAMBRIDGE, June 4 .- Coach Storrow to-day gave another proof of his dissatisfaction with the way the Harvard 'Varsity crew is rowing the way the Harvard Varsity crew is rowing by removing Lawrence from 4 in the first boat to 3 in the second boat. Harding has replaced him from bow in the second boat. This is believed to be Lawrence's finish, as he has been tried on both sides of the boat and returned to his old place on the starboard side of the boat. At the conclusion of the day's practice Bullard, who rows at 2 in the first boat, wrenched his ankle severely. To-night it is not known whether he will be able to take his place again or not.

Fight With Jeffries. Champion Jim Jeffries, who is now in the

But as I have to paddle my own cance until he comes back you might as well know it. Corbett wouldn't fight me at Coney Island until Brady consented to give him half the purse money. He demanded half of 60 per cent. almost at the ringside and refused to go into the circle unless he got it. Brady wanted the fight to go ahead. The crowd was there and everybody was clamoring for us to go on. In fact, I was ready. In order not to disappoint a big crowd and so as to get a handsome sum, anyway, Brady made the concession without my knowledge. That was what caused the long delay that night. If I had known it I don't think I would have fought him. I tell you, it was a short skate trick."

Jeffries further said that if he agrees to fight Corbett again the victor must take all the spoils. He declares that he will insist on this clause or else there will be no match. Europe," said Jeffries, "I had a talk about the

After that, however, Sweeney pulled himself together and defeated his rival in the fourth round. A good-sized crowd was present. The conditions were twenty rounds at 133 pounds. Johnny Eckhardt was the referee.

Billy Trueman and Jerry Barnett, both from Brooklyn, figured in the first tilt of ten rounds at 122 pounds. Trueman won.

The second bout was between Tim Leonard and Max Levy, both of Brooklyn. They were scheduled to go ten rounds at catchweights. Levy was declared the victor.

Jim Ferns Anxious to Box Matty Matthews. TO THE EDITOR OF THE SUN-Sir: I observe that Matty Matthews and his manager, John P. Dunn, continue to deny Jim Ferns's right to the welter weight boxing championship. Ferns defeated "Mysterious" Billy Smith previous to Smith's contest with Matthews. He won from Smith on a foul, but it was after a fight of over twenty rounds had proved Ferns the superior man. In any event, ring experts will not deny that a championship can pass on a decision on a foul. Otherwise we would probably never see a new champion. It is true that Ferns met Smith at 145 pounds. Smith would make no other weight for him. Ferns can be handly at 140 pounds, (which he weighed for Smith and even less, but so anxious was he to beat the champion that he let him come in as heavy as he liked. RULES FOR PARIS SPORTS.

In instructions issued vesterday to the athletes who will compete at Paris, A. G. Spalding dispelled many doubts as to the character and method of conducting some of the field events at the international games. The contests designated in the official programme as weight throwing will consist of putting the 16-pound shot, throwing the 16-pound hammer and throwing the discus. In the hammer contest it is stipulated that any kind of handle may be used so that Americans will not be debarred from using the loop handle, which has contributed considerably to the record-breaking feats in this line during recent years. Instead of putting the shot from a seven-foot circle, as in American contests, the competitors at Paris will have to put from a seven-foot square and the measurement will be taken from the first break in the ground made by the shot, direct to the putting line of the square, or in case the shot has been delivered at an angle, to a prolongation of the putting line. This provision is detrimental to McCracken of the University of Pennsylvania, who puts the shot on the bias, and who will lead a great deal by the adoption of the English McGracken of the University of Pennsylvaria, who puts the shot on the bias, and who will lose a great deal by the adoption of the English method of measurement. R. Sheldon, the American champion, is not likely to be seriously inconvenienced as one of the best performances with the shot was made in the English championships when he lodged it within ten inches of the winning put of Horgan, the world's record holder. The discus will also be thrown from a square instead of a ring.

The pole vaulting also will be conducted under English rules, which allow prongs at the end of the pole by which an athlete can keep the pole steady while he climbs further up. The advantage to the Englishmen is more nominal than real as evidenced by the performances made in recent years by American athletes, who since climbing was prohibited have perfected the style of clean vaulting.

Mr. Spalding says that the handicapping will probably be conducted by the officials of the Union des Sociéties Française de Sports Athletiques, under whose rules all competitions will take place.

Conditions Under Which McGovern Will Fight

Erne. The defi from Frank Erne to meet Terry McGovern at 128 pounds is not likely to be accepted. McGovern's manager, Sam Harris does not care to let his protegé fight the lightweight champion at a greater weight than 126 pounds. In a letter to The Sun Harris writes: pounds. In a letter to THE SUN Harris writes.

In reply to Frank Erne's challenge to meet Terry McGovern at 128 pounds at the ringside, will say that Erne makes a wrong statement when he say's Terry made remarks that he could lick him. It was Mr. Erne who stated that he could defeat Terry inside of ten rounds, and I accepted the challenge But Erne did not seem too anxious to keep up his end of it. Now that Erne has declared himself anxious for a chance at McGovern, he can have it as soon as he desires to, if he will make the weight 125 pounds, ringside, instead of 128 pounds. Should be consent to this, I will meet him anywhere he wand

Fitzsimmons Was 38 Years Old Yesterday.

Bob Fitzsimmons, who is training at Bergen Beach for his contest with Gus Ruhlin, did not do much work yesterday. It was his thirty. eighth birthday, he having been born on June 4. 1862, at Elston, Cornwall, England. Fitz received many congratulations and was in cheerful spirits all day. In regard to condition the former champion is all that could be desired. Ruhlin is quartered at Lakewood, where Jim Corbett did his work for his mill with Jeffries. While the betting is not very vigorous considerable money has been invested on the result. Fitz is still a 2 to 1 favorite.
